

ABSTRACT

Film-forming compositions for topical application are provided that deliver decreased dry-down times, increased moisturization and improved application and removal characteristics. The film-forming compositions herein comprise a film-forming polymer and a zwitterionic bulking agent. Kits comprising the film-forming compositions of the present invention are also provided herein.